THE SEVENTH AVENUE PAVEMENT.

The property-owners on Seventh Avenue have good grounds for complaint, and are clearly in the right in their opposition to the confirmation of the enormous assessment of $490,000 for the paving of that avenue from 18th to 38th Street with the Stafford wooden pavement.

The cost of this experiment to property-owners on that avenue is just $550 for each lot of twenty-five feet front, which is certainly not all for the fun of viewing from one’s front window heavily loaded trucks passing in lines all day long and which tend to entirely wear out the pavement in less than three years.

The paving of this avenue, and all other avenues for that matter which run up and down town, and which are the centre lines of travel, is something which, properly, should be borne by the city at large, for the reason that the wear on the avenue is entirely out of proportion to that of the cross-streets, and is constantly increasing in each a pain that, in a few years time, nearly every street which leads up town will require expensive re-paving at least once in every two years.

CIVIL RECORD.

MARKET REVIEW.

BUCKS.—This market is an extremely difficult one to write at the moments, owing to the entire absence of any really good values, and the future looks no better. The business in the rivers and harbor has prevented the arrival of cargoes to any extent, while the condition of existing stocks is towards a very worn-out state, the trade having been rendered so difficult by very few deliveries from yeas before.

The position, however, is pretty strong generally, and there is little doubt that extreme figures could be obtained at any moment of stock in a rather good condition. Some of the large builders and contractors who always buy direct want a few cargoes, and a good many brick would be taken in yard to make good the supplies at this time. It is an odd fact that our stocks are held in the hands of only a few dealers, and our opportunity having proved rather in excess of calculations. Bakers are a little particular as to quality, but would put up with rather a common grade rather than lose the oppor- tunity to accumulate a stock. Wholesale prices appear to be holding steady, and it is probably that buyers will be forthcoming in quite a few cases.

A load of January there was sold at the points of production something like one hun- dred million brick, only a small portion of which has been delivered, and owners will naturally be anxious to realize on the hands as soon as possible, or return a good supply, and unless the consumption very ma- terially increases enough to last well until the appearance of the new crop. Last year's manufacture having been so much appreciated by old and experienced hands, was comparatively successful, and the production during the coming season will not be likely to fall off to any extent. On the North River yards, though the New Jersey makers are likely to be more盛行 than some others, the manufac- ture is somewhat doubtful, but if prices are not too high it is probable that buyers can be found for about all the offering.

For front the market is much the same, Philadel- phia selling fairly and ruling steady, but Creton meet- ing with little favor, and having no regular market values. Manufacturers who desire to make money on Creton fronts must take it in small lots, as certainly a class article in every respect can be sold on this market.

CIMENT.—A firm market prevails on Rosendale, and the tendency is rather upward, if anything. Business has been a little slow in some cases, owing, however, principally to the poor transportation, and, with the small stocks on hand, it is quite common to have a good deal of work with very little inducement, and some very extravagant figures are talked of as likely to be obtained before the new crop makes its appear- ance. The shipping demand just now is small, the local consumption affording the main outlet, and dealers are oc- casionally obliged to buy from each other in order to keep regular customers supplied. About $23.50 to $2.50 per bbl are the asking rates.

FOREIGN WOODS.—Small supplies and a generally poor assortment in first hands would naturally keep the market weak, and in that case the actual demand is moderate and uncertain, and buyers, as a rule, appear inclined to move with great caution. There is some stock wanted, especially for interior work, but it must be of the very best quality—at a standard grade, almost certain to be of use whenever owners feel disposed to offer it. The call for this class of supplies is from the regular dealers, having nothing, for the first of the year, that they have room for something fine, and are willing to stock; indeed, in a few cases it is rather a necessity. On foreign account fair demands are made, but the prospects abroad for cargoes of timbers or incumbrances to forward woods from this point, though some shipments are making from the place of growth. There has been a little movement on shipments to the near- by interior points, and the very small movement that is taking place is rather in favor of some mills. It is difficult to understand how the makes have been cut below the usual rate, as they are generally recovering from the usual dull tone at the commencement of

NAIL.—The general demand continues rather moderate, and the market without much animation on any style, when prices in a business of this kind, with little or no advance. Exports are fair considering the season, but the out- es as usual mainly on home account. Among manufactur- ers and agents the expression of feeling is confiding, and their stocks will not suffer from any financial pressure. It is also proposed to hold a meeting of the selling interest and manufacturers this week, with a view of making more powerful appeals to consumers and dealers. Stocks on hand, with occasional additions, keep up fairly to quantity and assortment, but a few weeks will see a scarcity of certain sizes, and on any material increase of the call. Jobbers are holding close mail orders and the usual sales to regular cus- mers, and seem to be very well satisfied with the present condition and advance of the future. Of domestic goods there is a pretty fair supply on hand, with additions sent in by manufacturers, almost in proportion to the output. Linseed Oil has been advanced in price by a combination of the leading concerns, who at present are making prices about 2¢ per gallon for jobbing lots in cans, with a discount of 50¢ per gallon for 1,000 gallons and upwards, 1¢ for 5,000 gallons and upwards, and 2¢ for 10,000 gallons and upwards. All orders are subject to the same terms of sale. Buyers protest most positively against the increase in cost, and protest that any material increase outside lots are understood to be available at something under the old quotations and for the present we omit quotations as simply nominal.
