POLITICAL COMBINATIONS.

Politics are not in our line—except as they affect real estate in the city of New York. As, however, it is a matter of considerable interest to know who is to control or dominate parties in the metropolis, we may as well state that the combination paramount is understood, and consists of Senator James O'Brien and Mr. Benjamin Wood.

Speak to parties, who read the daily papers, may have found a vague impression that Mr. Charles O'Connor and Mr. Samuel Tilden are really the controlling individuals-in-chief denominated organization. But that is not so. Party organizations, which embrace so many wide-spread ramifications as do the two great political combinations in New York, must be directed by two or three controlling minds. The misfortune of Republicanism in this city is that the party, as a whole, is intractable; it will not submit to individual leadership. Hence it is split into rival cliques; a dozen aspirants are perpetually quarrelling among themselves for the honors and profits of Republicanism. As, however, it is a matter of considerable interest to know— who is to control or dominate the two great party organizations, which embrace so many direct minds; we may as well state that the combination paramount is understood, and consists of Senator James O'Brien and Mr. Benjamin Wood.

The removal of Sweeny and Tweed from the directorate of the party, and the defection in the German wing of the Democratic party, seriously complicates matters. Messrs. Tilden, O'Connor, and Andrew Green might be the best persons to have control of the Democratic organization; but the simple fact is they have not secured it, nor are they likely to. The Irish and a great part of the American element will for the present be controlled by Mr. Benjamin Wood and Senator O'Brien. Whether these persons have the requisite ability and tact to retain the management of such difficult elements time alone can determine.

If an election for mayor should be held in the coming spring it is supposed, by Mayor Hall and others, that a combination of German and Republican votes, with some of the American Democrats, may be made upon Mr. Wittmann, ex-commissioner of emigration. If, however, there should be a distinct split between the Irish and German Democrats, each running their own candidate for mayor, it would not be impossible for the Republicans to elect their candidate.

Our city politics during the next few years will display some surprising transformations. If after all a better city government should be gained it would be a matter of sincere congratulation; but let us admit that that would be an entirely unexpected result to those who best know the character of our voting population.

Values, however, are pretty firm, and any cargo at all desirable is almost sure to find a ready sale at full figures. In this respect our contractors agree that a few are now being commended for the earlier part of the season; but, as a rule, the movements are confined to the main to special sizes, which are called ‘suitable’ by all parties, and on which little, if anything, is to be gained by waiting. For the ordinary run of stock lumber any marked differences in prices are not to be expected. On the contrary, as we go to press, we are informed that our new mills are making extensive repairs, preparatory to the running of their logs next spring, we shall cut and ship more than ever has been cut in any one season. A correspondent of the Sylvania furnishes the following information on this point:

Mr. Bledsoe, who owns 30,000 acres, has seven camps, of which four are producing. At the rate of four camps, with hogs only, and at the rates asked, and cannot discover why, with the immense advantages we can obtain ourselves, it is manifestly self-interested to use our reports carelessly and truthfully.

On account of the lumbering operations having been so sudden and extensive, it is difficult for the consumer to judge of the difference of at least one whole month, while mills are holding over the better grades of stock, until the slow grades are called for in the south. In order to check the present rapid advance of prices on the small shipments, the latter were obliged to shut down for a time, and only wear a better price. In every case, on account of a very dry fall, were not side again to present operations. As the summer crops have been seen, these, altering with the rise in the spring, dry, more every season, so that these mills will, in self-defense, have to get to produce, which are already prepared to be. The present gap out of logs is larger than usual; but, of, course, similar to the same stock again this winter. The trade in lumber is so small, has so far, been everything that could be desired.

One important fact, however, in connection with this, is that the position of most consumers can be regarded as the result of lumber prices cannot exceed the capacity of the market, and that the local advance of prices has made more every season, so that these mills will, in self-defense, have to get to produce, which are already prepared to be. The present gap out of logs is larger than usual; but, of, course, similar to the same stock again this winter. The trade in lumber is so small, has so far, been everything that could be desired.

No one should Build or Live in a House WITHOUT EXAMINING OUR ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES, without which no house can be said to have all or even the most important of modern improvements: in fact, they are indispensable for the complete outfit of a first-class house with what may be termed necessary conveniences. All English and French houses at the present time are furni-thed with this electrical apparatus.

E. HOLMES’
Burglar Alarm Telegraph.

This one Bell, located in the sleeping-room, when set for the night, rings upon the opening of each door and window of the house. It is a watchman that has but one home protection; never gets out of order; has no bells longs or, and an experience of ten years, without a failure, proves it to be perfectly safe and satisfactory.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION is requested to our new

HOUSE ANNUNCIATOR,
An improvement upon the French system.

IT CONSISTS OF A SINGLE CALL BELL AND ANNUNCIATOR,
in the kitchen or servants’ department, and so arranged that the simple touch of a button will ring in each room of the house RINGS THIS BELL AND AN-NOUNCIATOR. THE ROOM in which the call is pressed —bell continuing to ring until the servants give it attention. The whole thing is operated by ONE BATTERY, OR BY THE SAME BATTERY
that operates the alarm.

Burglar Alarm Telegraph
Is simple, perfect, and reliable, and will not get out of order, and is a great improvement upon the old system of “bell pulls.” We also have An Attachment for Ringing Door Bells and Servants’ Bells from the Table or Dining Room,
by placing a spring in the door, and covered by the carpet. Also, for
