INDEX TO THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

XLIII.

JANUARY—JUNE, INCLUSIVE.

1889.

Following semi-annual Index of the Con- and Projected Buildings in New York s Counties, as published in THE RECORD DE during the first six months of 1889, und of great value to those of our sub- who have preserved all the issues of this ing that period. The utmost care has n to keep the Index up to the same per- lard which has characterized it in the e pages are given on which all the trans- ealty published in Volume XLIII. can ely be found, and the streets and avenues b-divided that very few references are For instance, transfers of property on ward appear in twenty-two issues during onths, which in the Index is sub-divided en parts, so that the least possible eed be incurred, any transfer being y referring to six pages at the most, it is known between what streets or the property is located. Although many bscribers have used the Index for years, them do not fully understand the com- of the work. We are frequently told of at our readers think they have discov- ich, upon investigation, prove to be errors archer—not of the Index. For instance, urrent number appears the following: et, from Madison to 5th avenue, 49, 846, after being the pages on which transfers treet may be found. Now, turning to , the average searcher would fail to find referred to, because it does not appear umerical order of streets. A close search e item under the head of Park avenue, vo entire blocks, 204.5x920, are conveyed. x is, therefore, in some cases condemned posed omission which is really the t evidence of the thoroughness with t has been compiled. Where such an should occasionally seem apparent to riber, he should search the whole page, will then find the item which is referred . Projected Buildings are indexed in a nanner, so that it can readily be ascen- what streets improvements have been Those wishing to keep a file for perma- erence should see that all the numbers plete and have them bound. A suitable can be obtained at the office of THE AND GUIDE, 191 Broadway, corner Dey rice, one dollar.

CONVEYANCES.

—The figures in extra black type—for 220, under the head of Attorney, from on to Stanton street—denote that the ion on the page given is Leasehold, or a nning for a long term of years. This ex- on is made so that subscribers searching nsfers in fee can at once distinguish t the former and the latter without g to the page mentioned.
